

BISHOPS' ADDRESS CREATES COMMENT

Open Question Whether It Will Strengthen Bonds Between Church and State.

LODGE FOR AMBASSADOR

His Selection for Court of St. James Expected in Event of Tat's Election.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] LONDON, August 8.—A long encyclical, embodying the work of the bishops from all parts of the world, recently assembled in conference at Lambeth, is bound to excite widespread controversy, and it is an open question if it will in any degree strengthen the fast weakening bonds between church and state. The document discusses all manner of social questions, but it fails to tackle the most acute of all, the matter of the attitude of the church toward marriage to a deceased wife's sister. It goes so far, however, as to condemn the remarriage of innocent divorced persons. But the vote on this point in the conference, 57 to 34, deprives the pronouncement of much moral weight. The document speaks emphatically on one subject, that is usually ignored, and that is the bishops' opinion, demands attention. It says:

"The conference regards with alarm the growing practice of an artificial means of restriction, as demonstrated to the nation's welfare. The conference affirms that deliberate tampering with nascent life is repugnant to Christian morality. The conference expresses the most cordial appreciation of the services rendered by those medical men who have borne courageous testimony against the injurious practices spoken of, and appeals with confidence to the medical colleagues to co-operate in creating and maintaining a wholesome public opinion on behalf of the reverent use of the married state."

Diplomatic circles are discussing with lively and on the whole, sympathetic interest the report which reaches them that, in the event of Tat's election, his selection of ambassador to the court of St. James will be Henry Cabot Lodge.

The abolition of the special tram car for women from South London to the city because men insisted that they were justified in not leaving the car, has aroused a storm of discussion. The Daily Mail has a leader arguing that women brought such treatment upon themselves, and urging them not to compete with men in the labor market. It they wished to meet with civility and respect, Cleely Hamilton, author of "Dianna of Dobson's," made a spirited reply. She said she was not old enough to remember the time when courtesy and respect to women existed, and she doubted whether they ever existed as an institution at all. She declared that women worked to earn for pleasures, and not to support men.

"With regard to women, who in the face of every obstacle, have allowed their way to the higher professions, permit me to remind you that if women are allowed to cultivate their brains they will certainly use their brains when they are cultivated. Nor are we alarmed by the prospect you have held out of a house in the neighborhood of the sexes. Nothing can alter the fundamental law which draws men and women together. Regarding the other relations of life, we see no reason for forbidding men to do our share of the world's work honestly and capably must respect us whether he will or not. To conclude, if man wants to keep us out of the paid labor market there is only one way to manage it."

"He must support us, not just one woman he happens to have married, but all of us, sisters, aunts, cousins, widows and spinsters. If we want food, are we to want clothes and house room? If we do not earn them ourselves, man must work double time to earn them for us. He is going to do it."

Notwithstanding the King's decision to go to take the cure at Marlborough this season, many society people have settled upon Carlsbad as the place to recuperate. Americans particularly are numerous among the Carlsbad patients.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy

Camp Carvers, August 9, '08. Dear Bunch—I was lying around camp to-day, not doing much, but thinking how many babies would be born into the world next year with the name "Willie," or "Wm. Howard," or "Wm. Jennings," or just plain "Bully." The trouble with most kids nowadays is they learn so rapidly it is impossible for the average high school to keep up with them. When we grow up we want the earth. The boss says: "If you would have things come your way, go after them." I promised to keep you posted in this column while I was out here in the woods. I want you to know we live up to every claim we make. If there is the least doubt in your mind that the plain-folk prices at our store are not as low or lower than the same goods are sold at any kind of a sale, put us to a test. Take any article you like, shop around, get the prices, then go to our store and look at our goods and prices. You won't need a salesman to give you a lot of talk. We're small, but we're in plain figures. Then it's up to you, and even then you get a guarantee with our articles which says if it does not fit, suit or wear as it should, you are to return it and have it exchanged or your money refunded. You can't possibly beat our prices or our treatment, so don't let anybody buffalo you at any of those fake sales. I'll be back on the job in another week.

gone to Paris. She has no definite plans for the rest of the summer.

Lady Leigh has left for Stoneleigh, where she will spend the remainder of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mackay have taken a large party of guests with them to Beauchamp Hall, Leamington. They will return to American in September.

Mrs. Shonts spent several days in London before rejoining her daughter, the Dowager Duchess de Chaulnes, who is living in the country near Paris.

The American visitors to the Free Trade Congress, especially Professors Sumner and Post, and Franklin Pierce, have been much feted and entertained. During their stay in London, Lord Brassey gave a reception in their honor, as did the Cobden Club and the National Liberal Club. Hon. Lewis Carroll, who is here, is expected to give a party at Nuneaton.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—The Reich to-day publishes statistics of the persons who have been condemned to death between Jan. 1 and July 1 of the Russian calendar. The statistics are compiled from newspaper reports.

The total of condemnations is 574, an average of five a day. In January there were 116; February, 123; March, 184; April, 106; May, 217; and June, 131. It is not known for what crimes these sentences were passed, but the majority probably were for murder and robbery accompanied by violence.

How to Judge Party Loyalty. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., August 8.—Colonel W. W. Sale to-day declares that the action of the Democratic committee of the district yesterday refusing to require pledges of support to Bryan and Keim was not in effect a throwing down of the bars to all voters, but merely the adoption of the old method of the district, judging a man by his record in the past. If a voter supported the last Democratic nominee for President and Vice-President he is recognized as a Democrat.

NEWS FROM PETERSBURG

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Byram Street, Petersburg, Va., August 8. William Ellis, the colored liverman, who shot and killed John H. Jones in front of the former's stables, on Bollingbrook street, Thursday afternoon, was formally discharged in the Police Court this morning on the ground of self-defense. The discharge was granted on the request of the Commonwealth's attorney. The police justice and Commonwealth's attorney, H. H. Mann, heard the full evidence in the case given at the corner's inquest yesterday afternoon, which clearly established the fact in order to save his own life Ellis was forced to kill John, and that John's intention was to kill Ellis. The coroner's jury practically so found in their verdict. There was no need of a trial of this evidence in the Police Court, and Ellis was sent out a free man.

Death of Walter Hatcher. Mr. Walter W. Hatcher, a very popular young man and widely known in this city, died at an early hour this morning at the home of his father, in Bedford City. Mr. Hatcher was employed as traveling salesman, and was held in high esteem by his employers and by all who knew him. Less than two years ago Mr. Hatcher married Miss Jennie Cuthbert, daughter of Mr. Charles H. Cuthbert, of this city, who survives him. Mr. Hatcher was about twenty-five years of age, and had been ill for some weeks. The remains were brought to the residence of Mr. Cuthbert, on Friend Street, to-night, whence the funeral will take place Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hatcher had lived in Petersburg since his marriage, but recently went to Bedford City.

Convention of Secretaries. Mr. Edwin L. Quarles, secretary of the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, will leave to-morrow for Chattanooga, Tenn., to attend the convention of secretaries of commercial associations in the Southern States, which is to be held in that city August 11th to 14th. Mr. Quarles will represent the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce.

Three negro boys—John Edwards, George Ford and Patrick Henry—were arrested and sent to jail this morning on the charge of house-breaking and robbery. None of the boys has yet reached his teens, and there is not only one case of house-breaking, but also of robbery. The three, all happening within a week or ten days. The stores broken into and robbed were those of Ryland & Co., on Franklin Street; John Wood, on South Avenue, and the store of the Park Street. The boys have practically confessed, and some of the stolen property has been recovered. Most of the petty robberies in the city lately were committed by colored boys, and it has been a problem of the police to properly to punish such youngsters.

Begging and Stealing. A white man, said to be from Danville, and claiming to be deaf and dumb, and a professional beggar by trade, was arrested this afternoon by Police Officer Higgins on charges of larceny. He got in the room of Mr. C. O. Woodward, of Clifton Forge.

Charles Smith, a young white man, convicted at the June term of the Hustings Court of passing a forged check for $100, has been conditionally pardoned by the Governor.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Charities of Petersburg, Va., was held this morning for the consideration of important matters.

Constable Ben Cullen was wounded in the back while trying to re-establish order. Sam Neale, a foreigner, was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound. A baby had been killed.

A force of peace officers large enough to control the situation was finally mustered and three arrests were made.

The outbreak is an incident in the guerrilla warfare that has been maintained for months between Roman and Greek Catholics and has already led to several murders.

MLLE. FALIERES TO WED. Daughter of President of France to marry his secretary on Monday.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] PARIS, August 8.—The marriage of Mlle. Fallieres, daughter of the President of the republic, to his secretary, Jean Lanes, will take place Monday. It will be carried out in all simplicity, and the absence of ostentation characteristic of M. Fallieres, an example of which was shown during his recent foreign visits, when all his royal hosts gave wedding presents to his daughter, but at M. Fallieres' own request nothing was said about them to the newspapers.

The French contrast the wedding with that of the Duke of Orleans' sister in England, when the claimant of the throne made the ceremony the occasion for the display of all the pomp he could. The city hall of the eighth arrondissement, where the civil ceremony will take place, will not be decorated.

No invitations for the religious ceremony, which will follow in the Church of the Madeleine, have been issued, as M. Lanes' mother died some months ago. His mourning has been severe, and he is avoiding the difficulty which would arise from the presence at the religious services of members of the Cabinet, who are responsible for the separation of state and church.

The expected presence of President Fallieres at the religious ceremony caused the priest in charge of the Church of the Madeleine to ask for instructions from Archbishop Amme, who said that following the church practice, all the chiefs of state, ministers and members of Parliament, who legislated against the liberty and rights of the church, are excommunicated by that action. The priests of excommunication are more or less grave, according as the excommunication has been official and publicly declared. This has not been done in the case of the present French political leaders. Hence the means of President Fallieres can be "tolerated."

GUARDIANS, CONVICTED AFTER LONG TRIAL, GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCES. [Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] LONDON, August 8.—One of the longest criminal trials of recent years terminated yesterday, when ten Mile End guardians and ex-guardians were found guilty of conspiring to defraud the rate-payers. Judge Phillimore passed sentences calculated to put terror into the hearts of these petty municipal officers. He declared that he was Westham received lighter sentences for a similar offense last year. The guardians combined to award one Calcutt, contractor for a variety of public works at exorbitant prices, obtaining for him immunity from all control.

Of the excessive sums charged a percentage of the illegal profits was doled out to the guardians and ex-guardians, some receiving cash and the others presents, varying from a suit of clothes to a grocer's or butcher's order. The guardians were fined six months for obtaining money under false pretenses, save the guardians away.

The highest amount of graft assumed to have been received by any guardian was $3,000, and that by a man who had thrice been mayor of a neighboring London borough. The trial had begun at 10 o'clock, and continued until 11:25. Another received fifteen months and a fine of $125; another, one year and a fine of $125; and the last nine months each and a fine of $125. All sentences were with hard labor. The convicted men will remain in prison until their fines are paid.
